STEAMING ALONG—The Mississippi Railway and Transportation Museum's steam engine and two railway cars were on their way Monday morning to the Seaboard's Roundhouse in Mobile for routine repairs. The steam engine's whistle brought back memories to many residents of the days when passenger trains were a popular mode of transportation in Hancock County. The engine, a 1925 Baldwin, will be away for about a month, according to J.V. Cannon, president of the Mississippi Railway and Transportation Museum, who also added this will be the first time 'Lady' will spend sometime in a roundhouse for maintenance. The train operates May through October at Hancock County's Port Blenville Industrial Park in Ansley. Cannon said, "In 1986 more passenger cars should be ready, and there is the possibility of some new services being added by our non-profit organization." The attraction at Port Blenville is the only operating train museum in the state of Mississippi. The train receives routine inspections by federal and railroad officials, Cannon added. State Employment Service office to accept Baldwin applications

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

The Boudreaux Employment Agency of Hancock County was advised by the sheriff's department late Wednesday not to take any further applications for employment with Baldwin Aircraft.

Ronald Peterson, Hancock County sheriff, said Boudreaux agency office manager Dorothy Mitchell had agreed to follow his recommendation until an investigation was complete.

According to Peterson, a formal complaint that the Boudreaux agency was taking applications and promising jobs with Baldwin Aircraft had been filed at the sheriff's office.

The investigation is underway to determine if there has been any illegal action in taking the applications.

The Boudreaux agency charges a fee of $10 for taking the applications.

Mitchell said in a telephone interview Wednesday that applications were being taken to be turned over to Baldwin according to an agreement allegedly executed by agency owner Maryline Boudreaux. But no promises of jobs are being given, she added.

Baldwin Aircraft is currently seeking funding for the location of a facility at Stennis Airpark that would offer 1,500 new jobs.

The company is planning to purchase land from the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission for construction of the plant.

Commission Director James DeBlanc reported late Wednesday he had contacted Baldwin officials who had stated they had no agreement with the Boudreaux agency or any other employment agency at this time.

DeBlanc added that the Baldwin officials stated they planned to use the state employment service for applicants.

Ann Ladner, office manager of the Bay St. Louis branch of the state employment service, said she had received notification that Baldwin had been in touch with the state office but had not contacted her personally.

A meeting had been scheduled with the local office but was delayed, she said.

Ladner added that although plans are not finalized, everything is falling into place.

Area residents interested in applying for jobs with the Baldwin Aircraft should plan to apply at the state employment office.

Hancock flood regulations work without building code

BY DENA BISNETTE

Despite lack of a building code, Hancock County's flood plain regulations appear to be reducing flood damage in the county.

Hancock County Planning Commission Attorney John Scaife Jr. and County Building Official Donn Murray met Tuesday with Bill Massey of Federal Emergency Management Agency, Jim Buckalew of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Mobile, Ala., District and Willard Inman, state coordinator for the National Flood Insurance Program.

Massey said the meeting was one of a series of visits with officials from Gulf Coast communities to evaluate flood control measures.

He said his agency has become involved in flood control because "the federal government usually ends up paying for flood damage through the National Flood Insurance Program or disaster aid."

"The repair of flood damage has been a great drain on local governments and local officials as well as the people in the flooded area."

On Tuesday, the three toured several low-lying parts of Hancock County with Murray in an effort to find out how well flood plain regulations, administered through the Hancock County Planning Commission, are working.

The regulations deal with elevation requirements for construction in parts of the county that have low elevations and are statistically likely to flood.

"I really think the regulations have minimized flood damage in the county," Scaife said.

He explained that anyone wishing to build in the flood plain must obtain a permit from the county and must meet minimum elevation requirements.

He added that very few variances have been granted in the past several years for residences. Almost all were for commercial structures.

Most of the enforcement has been south of Interstate-10, Murray added. He said areas north of I-10 have generally not been considered to be likely to flood unless they are located along a creek bank.

Massey said lack of a building code makes flood regulations more difficult to enforce, since construction could possibly begin in areas not immediately known to be of low elevation, particularly when a general building permit is not required.

He added that a building code also helps discourage poor quality construction by contractors from outside the area.

"Your local contractors will generally support a building code," he added.

"The Planning Commission is 100 percent behind having a building code, but we have not been able to get the board of supervisors to act on it," Murray explained.

Massey said FEMA will use the information compiled from Tuesday's meeting and tour to provide the county with recommendations on any needed changes and additions to the existing flood control regulations.

In addition, Buckalew said the Corps may be able to provide additional elevation benchmarks for surveyors to use if the county requests them.

Massey said he expects to return to Hancock County in two to three months for further discussions concerning the flood plain.

Hospital zoning tabled, meet with council planned

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

The Bay St. Louis Planning and Zoning Commission voted to table a decision for a zoning change on property near the new hospital site again Tuesday night.

The proposed change from residential to commercial zoning was requested at the November meeting by Dr. James Crittendon on property to be used as a medical office.

The proposal was tabled at the November meeting for further investigation and the commission voted to delay the decision again for additional investigation.

The board expressed a desire to see if it was feasible if it were to zone an area as a special-use district, for health-related support agencies.

The rezoning of the entire area around the site would eliminate spot-zoning and also support the new facility being construction.

The commission plans to meet with the Bay City Council as soon as possible to discuss the designation of the area as a special-use district.

Minor chemical spill cleanup completed

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

What was reported to be an explosion early Monday morning at the Port Blenville Industrial Park was actually a 'minor spill.'

Borg Warner Chemical Plant Manager Leo B. Kowal said the spill of less than 50 gallons of acrylo was in a contained area and posed no threat to the area.

"Acrylo is used in the plastic production and is like a gasoline spill with the major concern being the flammability of the material," he said.

There are no noticeable fumes except in the immediate area which is secured, he added.

"You don't want to breathe it any more than you would breathe gasoline," Kowal said.

"But there must be a high concentration to smell it and the people in the area are protected," he added.

According to Kowal the cleanup of the area was completed Wednesday morning by Peterson Marine of New Orleans who were on the job within hours of the spill.

Kowal said the spill occurred during the transfer of the material from storage to a tank car.

"A worker underestimated the level in the tank and it simply overflowed," he said.

Kowal also said he had informed the Environmental Protection Agency that the agency had indicated that they were satisfied with the cleanup process.

Crop insurance period ends

The 1985 crop year insurance period for corn and grain sorghum grown in Hancock County and insured by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC), or by a private company reinsured by FCIC, ended Monday, according to Joan M. McCartney, a representative for the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

"Any notice of loss must be given no later than 30 days after total destruction of the unit, completion of harvest, or Dec. 10, whichever occurs earlier," according to McCartney.

The producer who anticipates a claim should notify his or her crop insurance agent immediately.

"Under the terms of the policy, any acreage on which harvest will not be completed must be left intact until an inspection is made. Any claim for indemnity may be rejected if these loss reporting requirements are not met," McCartney stated.

Gunshot fatal to teenager

A Hancock County teenager died in Forrest General Hospital in Hattiesburg on Monday after suffering a gunshot wound to the temple.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson identified the victim as Lealand Hummel, 18, Route 1, Box 130, Picayune, Miss.

Peterson said, "Our investigation has revealed the teenager, who lived near the Flat Top Community in Hancock County, had an argument with his girl friend and was reportedly depressed. He allegedly went outside, taking a .22 caliber pistol and shot himself in his temple."

He was rushed to Crosby Memorial Hospital in Picayune and from there flown by helicopter to Forrest General Hospital where he died later in the day, Peterson said.

The incident is being investigated by Hancock County Deputy Sheriff Nathan Hoda.

Farmers urged to press for replacement bill

Concern is mounting in farm circles that the U.S. Congress may fail to work out differences in House and Senate versions of the farm bill by their Dec. 13 adjournment next week and simply extend the current law for another year.

"This would be tragic for farmers all over the country," Hugh Arant, president of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation, said at the farm organization headquarters in Jackson a week before the scheduled adjournment.

"Farming is a complex business enterprise," the federation president said, "and is tied to a reasonable timetable that cannot be arbitrarily tampered with. Right now Mississippi farmers are faced with crop planting decisions, credit arrangements for a new year, negotiation of rental contracts, plus the usual winter maintenance schedule."

"They need to know what kind of farm program will be in place for next year, and already that information is late to the point that farmers will be hurt."

Both Houses have passed their respective farm bills but now conferees from each chamber must resolve differences before it is finally approved and sent to the President for his signature. So far conferees have failed to take much action in their first two meetings.

There is concern that they will push the matter aside until the first part of 1986 and go for a new farm bill effective in 1987 and thereafter.

Arant added that if farmers become stuck with the same old farm bill it will mean further stimulated production of surplus crops without regard for whether there is a market for the commodities when they are harvested.

"And that's how we got into the financial mess we're now in," he added.

The Farm Bureau head is urging farmers and their allies to speak up to let Congress know how desperately new farm legislation is needed in rural America.

Planning today for the eventual tomorrow.

David Riemann, President

We all plan for the future, plan for our homes, our families. Plan that we will work together to make tomorrow better. We all participate in planning today for the eventual tomorrow. From our earliest years, plans for the future have played an important role in our lives as the hopes and dreams of today become the realities of tomorrow.

As we plan for the future, a will, a trust, insurance and a funeral plan provide the four cornerstones of family security. Caring families consider future needs by making funeral arrangements in advance of need. They have found that a prearranged and prefinanced funeral plan can be a valuable and protected investment as well as being one of the simplest ways of caring for their family.

Planning ahead just makes good sense.

Main Street Methodist Church proclaims 'Peace on Earth to Men of Good Will'

By Joe Pilet

Have you noticed our lovely little Main Street Methodist Church recently? It is decorated for Christmas. When you view it you will experience a Yuletide inspiration.

Sitting there well-kept, well-groomed in the midst of a traffic light, store window displays, and in competition with county offices, the courthouse, the post office, news bureau and electric power company, the quaint little church is a quiet, demure invitation for those who wish to meditate—and to reflect.

You will find no designated parking spot. Perhaps this is good. The church is best viewed at eye level. Just stand across the street from the church and relax.

You are viewing a simple little church that dates from the 1890's, and according to architect Fred Wagner, is "the only good example in the community of 'Carpenter Gothic.'"

Wagner said, "The description comes from unsophisticated expression of Gothic details in the wood vernacular." And he added, "There is an almost exact duplicate of this church in historic Port Gibson."

There is no ornate glittering, no glowing brilliance, no artificial snow and pretend wintery icicles. Rather there is a quiet and impressive dignity in the peaceful and tasteful placement of greenery—with an occasional red bow for contrast.

Greenery along the wrought iron railings marks the way to a double entrance. The entrance seems to promise serenity within. This tranquility is located right in the middle of our busy town square!

Should you seek a moment of simplicity, dignity, and elegant good taste—a place for quiet reflection, it's likely you'll find it right at the entrance of Bay St. Louis' Main Street Methodist Church. Aren't we fortunate to have this little gem in our community?

Bay, Pearlinton subscribers to select preferred toll company

People in Bay St. Louis and Pearlinton soon will be able to choose which long distance company will carry most of their "1+" and "0+" long distance calls, South Central Bell District Manager Don Robert reports.

The change, effective March 3, 1986, will allow each customer to choose a "preferred" company—the one he wants to use most often for long distance calling.

South Central Bell will channel to that company all the customer's "1+" or "0+" calls to places outside South Central Bell's calling zone, Roberts said.

Customers whose telephone numbers begin with 467 and 533 are eligible.

Inside the Gulf Coast calling zone, South Central Bell will carry "1+" and "0+" calls.

Selecting a long distance company will be easy, said Roberts. During December, South Central Bell will send each eligible customer a packet that includes information about the long distance companies offering service in the area, plus a ballot the customer can use to choose a company.

Each customer should return the ballot to make sure he is signed up with the long distance company he wants to use, Roberts said.

"In effect, customers will be able to shop for long distance service the same way they shop for anything else—by comparing the price and services offered," he said.

Any customer who does not select a long distance company will have one tentatively assigned to him on a random basis, but he will have a chance to change that assignment.

South Central Bell will send a second ballot to every customer who fails to return the first one. Accompanying the second ballot will be a letter telling the customer which long distance company has been assigned. By filling out the second ballot and returning it, the customer still may choose a company. Otherwise, his long distance calls will begin to go through the company he had been tentatively assigned.

The percentage of customers assigned each long distance company will be based on the percentage who selected it on the earlier ballot. For example, if 60 percent of the customers returning the first ballot selected a certain company, 60 percent of those who did not select would be assigned that company.

Four companies have indicated they plan to offer long distance service to Bay St. Louis and Pearlinton customers. They are GTE Sprint, AT&T, MCI and The Com-muniGroup.

Montgomery reports VA role in providing AIDS care to vets

The numbers tell the story.

The Veterans Administration has provided medical care for at least 700 victims of acquired immune deficiency syndrome at a cost of approximately $38 thousand a year per patient.

The average AIDS patient has a life expectancy of two and one-half years, which translates into a $100 thousand medical tab per patient.

Based on the VA estimates, the agency will soon be spending approximately $40 million per year to provide treatments for AIDS.

The numbers, considered by some to be conservative, have the chairman of the House Veterans' Affairs Committee worried that the VA, with its fixed health care budget, "could be forced to deny treatment to sick and dying veterans...to choose between caring for veterans with AIDS or caring for veterans with other diseases or disabilities."

"It's a choice that no health care professional should have to make," said Congressman G. V. (Sonny) Montgomery (D-MS).

"The mission of the VA's Department of Medicine and Surgery is to provide health care to all eligible veterans," said Montgomery.

"[The VA] should not have to juggle its resources to fulfill that commitment, and that's exactly what will happen if the budget-cutters continue to take essential funding from the VA. You can't take on this kind of additional responsibility and operate with a less-than-current-services budget."

In a statement delivered on the floor of the House, Montgomery noted Defense Department plans to begin screening all military personnel for exposure to the AIDS antibody and to give medical discharges to those who have the disease.

According to VA officials, the agency expects its AIDS caseload to rise significantly. Officials say the number of AIDS cases nationwide is doubling every 11 months. The VA plans to establish major AIDS units at its hospitals in New York City, San Francisco, and Miami.

"If the VA is to continue providing quality, compassionate care to all eligible veterans, the agency's health care budget simply cannot take additional cuts," Montgomery told his colleagues.

Heating assistance available for low-income households

Approximately 70,000 low-income Mississippi households will receive assistance in paying winter energy bills through the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP), according to the Office of Energy and Community Services, Governor's Office of Federal-State Programs.

The heating assistance, which became available to elderly and handicapped persons on Dec. 2, will be available to other low-income individuals on Dec. 23.

Mississippi will receive an estimated $17.2 million in federal funds for heating assistance payments of $80 to $240 per household. The amount each household receives is dependent upon factors such as household size, income, location and the type of fuel used.

To qualify for LIHEAP heating assistance, a household must have an income that is no more than 125 percent of federal poverty guidelines, and the individual receiving the payment must be able to prove that he or she is financially responsible for the household's energy.

"Generally, a household will be eligible for one payment a year for assisting with heating, cooling or weatherization bills, said Linda S.

Harvey, Office of Energy and Community Services director. "However, in the event of a disaster or similar emergency, additional payments may be available."

Individuals wishing to take advantage of LIHEAP heating assistance should contact their local community action agencies, the Office of Energy and Community Services or the Governor's Service Line toll-free at 1-800-222-7622.

In less than two weeks we will be celebrating Christmas.

We know many of our readers have not completed their shopping for the big day and would like to remind everyone of the importance of shopping in Hancock County.

Many of our residents make their livelihood by working in the many stores in the area.

A dollar spent at home turns over so many times and by shopping-at-home it means so much to your friends and neighbors.

In Hancock County we have a wide variety of stores, large ones and small ones, and your business is really appreciated.

We are happy to see the Chamber of Commerce promoting shopping in Hancock County, because the members of the chamber know the importance of shopping-at-home.

UNITED WAY CONTRIBUTORS—Robert Compretta, Winn-Dixie manager, presents a check to Hilda Bourg, vice-president of the Hancock County United Way. The check was for employee payroll deductions and a corporate gift from the Bay St. Louis store. Those in photo from right are, Pamela Micello, W-D head cashier and United Way store coordinator; Compretta, Bourg, and Lonnie Clayborn, United Way director and manager of Sears Catalog Sales, Bay St. Louis, which also contributed to the local fund by corporate giving and employee payroll deductions. The Hancock County United Way funds 15 agencies in the area. At a Tuesday meeting, Conrad Maufrey, executive director for the United Way reported the 1985 fund drive was 90 per cent of its goal of $50,000. Bob Hubbard is the 1985 campaign chairman. Persons interested in making a contribution can mail it to Hancock County United Way, P.O. Box 142, Bay St. Louis, Miss. 39520. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

AN IDEA WHOSE TIME HAS RETURNED

It was in 1936, the time when Mississippi was beginning its first major highway construction program. The program, adopted by the Legislature, was designed, said then Governor Hugh White, to "get Mississippi out of the mud and dirt as soon as possible."

That highway construction program, which brought paved state highways to Mississippi, has been recognized as one of the most effective programs ever devised in Mississippi.

There is an often overlooked element in the highway construction program of 50 years ago. As the program was begun the Legislature repealed the election of state highway commissioners.

For three years Mississippi's highway commissioners were appointed. The action was taken, said legislative leaders, to assure that the highway control program did not become bogged down in politics.

After three years the state return to the election system for selecting highway commissioners.

With highways and a transportation system still a major priority for Mississippi, it may be that the time has come to rethink the merits of an appointed highway commission.

This just may be an idea whose time has returned.

Speculation, gossip unfairly discredit Children's Center, employees

Editor
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir:

In your Sunday story of the "touching" incident at the Methodist Children's Center I was dismayed by the quote "I thought she was a nice girl. I thought this was a good day care center."

Your story stated that the incident was under investigation and no complaints had been filed yet. Therefore, the young woman in question is indeed innocent until proven guilty.

I imagine many parents will say I wouldn't feel that way if my child was involved. However, my son has been a kindergarten student at the center for the last year and a half and I resent the connotation that the center is not a "good one."

To say that is to deny all the good and positive values my son has been taught there.

I have had the opportunity to watch the employees handle their young charges and I have been duly impressed with the care and tenderness they bring to their jobs.

There is nothing secretive about the center. Parents are welcomed at any time, classroom doors are wide open and a warm and friendly atmosphere dominates the place.

The teachers encourage parent participation in special activities.

The center has made a valid effort to educate the children in regards to "touching" and the possibility of abduction.

A state policeman visited my son's class and showed them a film to warn them of these dangers.

A "safety list" was sent home to me along with a note suggesting that we go over the list every few months, in order to keep the subject matter fresh in our son's mind.

I feel the center had made a valid effort to educate both children and parents in regard to this matter.

I do not for one moment believe the center is trying to "cover up" or hide anything. I feel that they, along with the authorities, are trying to get all the facts together while at the same time protecting the privacy of all the individuals involved.

Once the facts are uncovered then I feel the parents have a right to know.

Until then, however, the speculation and the gossip only serve to discredit the center and its employees.

Sincerely,
Geraldyn Richardson

Pastor reflects on Children's Center woes

Letter to the Editor

An open letter to parents and supporters of the Methodist Children's Center:

Since its beginning nearly five years ago, Main Street United Methodist Church has regarded its Children's Center as an outreach ministry to the community.

The church receives no financial compensation from the center as the children's program is basically non-profit.

Since this complaint has been brought to our attention, I have personally interviewed every member of the center's staff individually.

It was difficult. They all cried. That's because they are a team. When one hurts, they all hurt. This experience has enabled me to have an even deeper appreciation and trust level for these people.

Quite frankly, I have never seen a more devoted group of people to their assigned task.

That this situation has been injurious to the center is without question. This is unfortunate because Wendy and Joy and the staff have labored very hard to make this facility a standard of excellence. The stated goal has always been quality Christian child care.

My congregation joined in special prayer about this matter on Sunday morning. The attitude of the church is positive and supportive. My faith enables me to believe that truth will ultimately prevail and the integrity, character and good name of the center will be strengthened.

Sincerely,
Curtis Moffat, Pastor

Police, fire departments have no control over power outages

Editor
Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir,

I would like to take this means to make an appeal to the public at large.

Could you please inform your readers that whenever the electric power goes off, that they should not call their local fire or police department, but call the appropriate power company to report a power outage.

An incident happened this past Sunday in Diamondhead in which a vehicle hit a power pole on a country road putting a good portion of Diamondhead in darkness.

The result was that due to the large volume of incoming calls about "why or how long was the power going to be off" no one could get through to report that there had actually been a vehicle accident.

Someone had to come by the station to inform us of the accident. These unnecessary calls to local police or fire departments do nothing but hamper the reporting of a real emergency, delaying their response which could be costly in lives or property.

Also, local emergency services need their phone lines free to call other appropriate agencies such as power companies, wreckers, or ambulances.

Local fire or police departments cannot control how long a power outage will last.

Please advise your readers to restrict their calls to necessary police or fire business during times such as those mentioned above.

Thanks very much,
Rodney T. Aguzin

Jefferson Davis Punch, a holiday treat

To the Editor
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Editor:

Perhaps some of your readers might enjoy serving the famous Jefferson Davis Punch during the Christmas holidays.

As you perhaps already know, it is served at Beauvoir during the Christmas party there. The recipe makes 1 2/3 gallons, just the right amount for the standard size punch bowl.

Jefferson Davis Punch
1 cup fresh lemon juice

2 1/3 cup sugar dissolved in
1 cup water
1 gallon red wine
3/4 cup cherry flavored brandy
8 oz. jar maraschino cherries & juice
1/4 cup dark rum
1 pt. ginger ale
2 qts. lemon-lime soda
Mix lemon juice and sugar water, place in punch bowl and add other ingredients. Chill by adding crushed ice.

Best wishes for Happy Holidays.

One person can make a difference

Dec. 10, 1985

Dear Sir,

Often we are reminded that public officials and city employees seem indifferent to our needs.

They seem too busy to answer our questions or are simply uninterested in our day to day problems.

My daughter is a 9th grade student at O.L.A. She was given an assignment by her Civics teacher asking for miscellaneous information concerning Bay St. Louis and Hancock County, both past and present.

We went to the Hancock County Courthouse to try to find some answers.

We met Mr. Greg Pfeiffer, secretary to the Board of Supervisors.

What a wonderful surprise we received. He was extremely helpful to my daughter.

He not only answered many of our questions, but also directed us to the proper offices and furnished us with the names of city personnel to answer her questions.

He was very courteous and was genuinely interested in her assignment.

He then provided a copy of a brief history of Bay St. Louis.

Mr. Pfeiffer is a fine example of a proud citizen, a dedicated public servant and a nice man.

One person can indeed make a difference.

Many thanks, Mr. Pfeiffer!

Sincerely,
Linda Raymond

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

JACKSON—The Republicans have hit upon their candidate to oppose Rep. Wayne Dowdy in the Fourth Congressional district next year, and the prospect is a fascinating one, even though the role could be that of sacrificial lamb.

To recall a little recent political history, the GOP has tried a born-again businessman and a former county prosecuting attorney against Dowdy the last two outings but the former McComb attorney and mayor has proved to be too tough for them.

Next time, the Republicans will be taking a brand new approach. They will field a woman candidate, not just your typical Mississippi housewife with a sudden crush on Republican politics, but an unusual career woman.

She is Gail Healy, an attractive 50-year-old who came back home to Natchez a month ago after working in Washington since 1981 for the Reagan Administration in alcohol and drug abuse programs.

Healy was in the White House Policy Office on Alcohol and Drug Abuse the past three years after earlier serving as special assistant to the administrator of the Alcohol, Drug Abuse and Mental Health Administration.

What brought Healy to Washington was not just a reward for being a worthy Republican who has worked in the party vineyard. Healy had something special to say about the use of alcohol and she wanted to share it at the highest level of government in the hope of shaping national policy.

Gail Healy had been an alcoholic until she kicked the habit in September, 1979. Ever since then, she says, "my life has turned around." Now she can talk about her alcoholism days quite openly and effectively. That is what she did all over the country for the Reagan administration the four years she was in Washington.

Healy admits the chief reason she came home to Natchez was to take a shot at the Fourth District Congressional seat. But there were also compelling reasons like being closer to her grown children who are scattered mostly around the New Orleans area.

She has been divorced for years from George Healy III, a New Orleans attorney whose father was widely known as the editor of the New Orleans Times Picayune and a transplanted Natchezan.

Although she has never run for any public office, Healy has been around politics a long time, going back to the days as a five-year-old campaigning for her father, one-time Adams County Sheriff Hyde Jenkins.

She became involved in David Treen's races for Congress in the 1960s when she was in New Orleans and after returning to Natchez in 1972 she worked in Thad Cochran's successful campaign for Congress, as well as for Gil Carmichael in his 1972 bid against Sen. James O. Eastland.

Becoming active in the Adams County Republican organization, she served as both vice-chairman and then chairman of the county GOP committee.

Healy has no illusions about the problems she will face in a campaign for Congress. A recovered alcoholic, divorced, and just the fact she is a woman trying to break into public office in Mississippi takes some kind of courage. "You can't hurt a person with their own facts," she says.

Evidently Mississippi Republicans think Healy is worth the investment to challenge Dowdy and try to win back the Southwest Mississippi seat that had been thought "safe" for the GOP until Dowdy came along and scored a stunning upset in the 1981 special election.

In 1984, David Armstrong, a former county prosecutor from Natchez was put up by the GOP against Dowdy, but was short-changed on the usual Republican bankrolling. Despite his skimpy GOP backing, Armstrong polled 45 percent of the vote and gave Dowdy a scare.

Since then, Armstrong has moved to Texas to practice law, and was not available for a rerun against Dowdy.

Healy doesn't say that she was "recruited" by the Mississippi GOP, but her decision to come back and run followed a series of talks with Rep. Trent Lott, who urged her to run.

It just happens that Lott and Dowdy could be the GOP and Democratic contenders for John Stennis' U.S. Senate seat in 1989.

ASCS committee named

Senator Thad Cochran (R-Miss.) announced recently the reappointment of five Mississippians to the state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Committee.

Cochran said he was notified by Secretary of Agriculture John Block that the five, whom Cochran had recommended, have been reappointed for the 1986 term.

The appointees and the Congressional Districts they represent are: Mack Thompson, of Hickory Flat, first district; Hobson Gary, of Schlater, second district; James Estes, of Noxapater, third district; Braxton Bullock, of Carson, fourth district; and O.M. Tilly, of Lucedale, fifth district.

"These gentlemen are well respected members of our state's agricultural community and have served our state well during their 1985 term. I am very pleased the Secretary has made these reappointments," Cochran said.

The ASCS state committee is responsible for administration of a variety of programs dealing with the farmer. Through the state committee and the farmer-elected county committees, ASCS obtains recommendations and advice in the formulation of program plans and policies.

Gulf Islands hosts holiday celebrations

Gulf Islands National Seashore will be hosting special Holiday Celebrations in both districts of the park during December. Superintendent Jerry A. Eubanks announced.

The Mississippi District of Gulf Islands will host an Open House at the William M. Colmer Visitor Center located at Davis Bayou in Ocean Springs on Friday, Dec. 20, from 1 to 5 p.m.

The Open House will be co-sponsored by the Ocean Springs Art Association, which will be displaying special works of art depicting the natural and cultural themes of the Park. Refreshments will be served.

"We hope the community will come out and view the art work on display in the Visitor Center as well as increase their awareness of the other resources located at Davis Bayou," stated Eubanks. For more information on the Open House please call (601) 875-9057.

The Florida District of Gulf Islands National Seashore will be conducting special Candlelight Tours of Fort Pickens on Sat., Dec. 21 and 28, at 6:30 p.m.

"Candlelight Tours of Fort Pickens are one of our most popular programs and we look forward to sharing with the community the historical holiday spirit associated with the Fort during this season," said Eubanks.

The parade ground will be decorated with a campfire and Rangers will lead a walking tour by candlelight and lanterns, ending up in the Officer's Quarters for refreshments.

"The Campfire should provide the right type of atmosphere for enjoying the refreshments, as well as an opportunity to share in a traditional holiday song fest," said Eubanks. Visitors should park in front of Fort Pickens and meet the Ranger at the Fort entrance. For more information concerning the Holiday Candlelight Tours of Fort Pickens call (904) 932-9994.

"We look forward to having the community visit the Park during the Holiday season," said Eubanks.

POLICE TRAINING—Bay St. Louis Police Officers Pam Clark, left, and Jim Clark simulate death after being "killed" by Waveland Police Officer Mike Prendergast in a training session Tuesday on the correct procedures to locate and extract a perpetrator in a building. In addition to the actual search of a building, films on officer survival and dealing with a burglary in process were shown. The training session was conducted by Bay Police Chief Ray Murphy, Detective David Murtagh and Prendergast. Murphy said that several officers were "killed" in the training and that in an effort to keep officers aware of the dangers and prevent them from relaxing, these sessions will be held regularly. Commission to advertise for parallel taxiway lights

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission voted Monday to begin advertisement for lights for the parallel taxiway at Stennis International Airport.

The $60,000 job will be financed with funds designated for high priority projects.

The job will also include lighted guidance signs for the area.

The commission also authorized the Bayou Caddy Marina Committee to execute an agreement for maintenance work at the marina.

Following the conclusion of regular business, the board called an executive session to discuss a prospective client.

AN ACHIEVEMENT AWARD for organizational activities on behalf of Mississippi farmers is presented to Frank Lee, left, president of the Hancock County Farm Bureau by Hugh Arant during the 64th annual meeting of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation in Jackson early this month. The farm organization is nearing a statewide membership of 150,000 families who pay dues to their county, state and national organization. Nationally, over three million members comprise the American Farm Bureau Federation, the world's largest farm organization with its largest membership in the southern states.

School board sets superintendent application deadline for Feb. 1

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
The Bay St. Louis School board voted Monday to change the deadline for applications for the superintendent's position to Feb. 1. A deadline of March 1 had been selected by the Search Committee. School Board member Betty Diboll told the board she believed the date should be changed to give School Board President Walter Turcott a voice in the decision.

Turcott, who has served two five-year terms, is not planning to run for reelection and his term will expire in March.

Diboll stated that after serving 10 years on the board Turcott should be in on the selection of the new superintendent.

L. D. Carter, school board member, made the motion for the change in the deadline but added a stipulation that the date could be extended if necessary.

The new superintendent will replace J. D. McCollough, who resigned effective Dec. 31 but will continue to serve as interim superintendent until June 1986.

CAIRE

Faced the other day with a couple of eggplants in urgent need of cooking, lest they lose their freshness, I started musing as to how I wanted to cook them. Busy with pre-Christmas plans and activities, and recuperating from a rather severe virus illness, I was in no mood for fried eggplant and its attendant clean-up, and was too busy—or lazy—to stuff 'em—so:

I pared and cubed the eggplants (sometimes I leave the skin on, sometimes I don't) and dumped them, along with chopped onions and celery and green pepper into a heavy pot with just a film of oil on the bottom.

I added chopped green onions, chopped fresh parsley and chopped tomatoes, and stirred it all around and let it simmer for a time, thinking the while that I was coming up with something a bit "new" only to realize that I was cooking up a sort of ratatouille—then came the realization that what I was really cooking up was that old, old Creole recipe for "Gumbo Gouter"—so there's really not that much "new" under the culinary sun, is there? It's just the individual touch or spur-of-the-moment change or inspiration.

"Gouter" is the French cook's name for a snack, a small meal, a taste—and this is tasty, I promise you.

Served in a soup bowl, with rice or without, according to the thickness you want, it's really a meal.

You may add shrimp or ham, if you wish, to make a sort of jambalaya, but I remember "Gumbo Gouter" best as a tasty Lenten meal in the days when so many Lenten meals had to be meatless. So, here's:

GUMBO GOUTER

1 Tblsp. oil or shortening (the old recipe called for lard)
1 large or 2 small eggplants, peeled and cut up

3 bell (green peppers)
½ lb. okra
2 large onions, chopped
1 small can tomatoes, chopped
½ cup celery, chopped
1 clove garlic, chopped (optional)
½ tsp. sugar

Pepper, salt to your taste
Dash of Tabasco or Cayenne
Just enough water to cover

Put the shortening or oil in a heavy pot, as above, and when hot (incidentally, I get best results when I heat the pot over the fire, then add the oil, as less chance of scorching before I add the vegetables) dump in the chopped vegetables, along with the sugar and other seasonings to your taste, adding just a little water.

At any rate, cover the pot tightly and simmer the whole business for an hour or an hour and a half, adding more water as needed. Stir it from time to time so that it won't scorch or burn.

Serve just so, or add chopped shrimp or ham, just before you take it off the fire. Or, add more liquid and serve it as a soup—or serve it over rice—or mix it all up with rice and call it a jambalaya. Whatever you do, enjoy!

P.S. Cut okra's good, too, in this. (Copyright, 1985, Katharine D. Caire)

Teacher request for change in grade assignment denied

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County School Board, despite dissension from one board member, has decided not to approve a sixth grade teacher's request that she be transferred back to first grade.

Sandra Garriga, the teacher involved, taught first grade at Hancock North Central School for seven years before being moved to sixth grade at the beginning of the 1985-86 school term.

She requested that a Tuesday hearing on the matter be held in an open board session rather than an executive session to allow the press and public to participate.

After the evidence was presented by the teacher and Hancock North Central Elementary Principal Richard Kinser, who made the reassignment, the board went into executive session for about an hour.

When the meeting was declared open again, Board Attorney Joseph Gex Jr. announced that Garriga's request had been denied on a split vote, with Board Member Tommy Shaw voting for the request and all other votes against it.

Shaw said he felt Kinser had done "what was best for the children" in making the reassignment but added that the principal should have handled the matter differently.

"He should have given her enough notice that she could have found another job if she wanted to," Shaw explained.

"She had made all her preparations for first grade. If she had been given some notice, she could have prepared for sixth graders."

Gex said the request was denied because the move from first to sixth grade was a reassignment, not a transfer, which involves moving a teacher from one school to another.

School board policy leaves reassignments to the discretion of the principal involved. Transfers must be approved by both principals, the superintendent and the board, according to Assistant Superintendent of Education James Fair.

Garriga and her attorney, Jayne Buttross, had contended that the procedure used in the reassignment was not consistent with the regulations in the district's 1985 teacher handbook.

Fair said the handbook is superseded by the district's policy manual, which classifies the matter as a reassignment and not a transfer.

Garriga said she had been introduced as a first grade teacher at a district-wide teachers' meeting on Aug. 19. She had also been given the keys to the first grade classroom she had been using for the previous several years.

She also stated that on Aug. 20, Kinser informed her that a first grade section was being discontinued and a sixth grade section was being added.

"There had been rumors but I never dreamed I would be the one moved," she said, explaining that she ranked in seniority over one other first grade teacher.

That teacher, she said, was the one over the discontinued section and had originally taught sixth grade.

"I was never given a satisfactory reason why I was the one chosen," Garriga added.

"I spoke out last year at some of the board meetings about first grade scheduling and I feel that has something to do with it."

Santa please bring me:

She stated that she had stressed at the time that she was appearing as a parent and added that Superintendent of Education Terrell Randolph had tried to discourage her from complaining to the board after the reassignment.

"He said you have the right to go before the board but I can give you no guarantee there will be no retaliation for it," Garriga said.

Randolph was absent from the hearing.

She said she would have changed jobs had she been given enough notice, but was unable to do so once she was reassigned.

"Although I love Hancock and its ideal teaching situation as far as transportation is concerned, I would have changed jobs because my heart is with the first grade."

Kinser said he selected Garriga for reassignment based on what he felt "was best for the children" and his familiarity with all six first grade teachers during his two years as principal.

Kinser said he did not check the teachers' records in reaching his decision, but Fair pointed out that Garriga ranked last among first grade teachers in yearly evaluations compiled by Kinser and previous administrators.

He said he based his decision to discontinue one first grade section and add a sixth grade on enrollment, which is difficult to estimate any earlier than the first day of school because the county has a relatively transient population.

Gex explained that although Garriga had no reason to believe she would not remain a first grade teacher, her 1985 contract states that she is "an elementary teacher" without specifying grade level.

Garriga said after the decision was announced that she had not yet decided whether or not to appeal the decision to the board.

"If I didn't accomplish anything tonight but to lay the groundwork for a seniority system, I'll be satisfied," she commented.

Low water pressure due to well being turned off

Bay St. Louis Mayor Victor Frankiewicz reported low water pressure Wednesday morning was caused by the St. Charles water well being mistakenly turned off.

The well was scheduled to be turned off with the reinstatement of the Harry Street well, the main supplier for the city. But the St. Charles well was turned off before the Harry Street well was in production.

Frankiewicz said the dark tint of the water experienced Wednesday afternoon was also due to the St. Charles well being turned off early.

The water was from the storage tank and had a low level of chlorine, he added.

Frankiewicz said the water had been tested and was safe to drink due to the amount of residual chlorine in the water.

The Harry Street well was reinstated later Wednesday.

Pirates snatch victory from Long Beach in a comeback to take tournament title

BIG SPECK—Robert Kern, of Pass Christian, boated this trophy-sized Speckled Trout while fishing Thursday morning in an undisclosed bayou near Bay St. Louis. The 27-inch fish weighs six pounds after being cleaned. Kern, known as somewhat of a fishing expert around the Sea Coast Echo office, said he was fishing four to five feet down using live shrimp as bait. By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
A strategic change in defense called for shortly before halftime of the finals of the Pass Christian Tournament gave the Pass Pirates the impetus needed to comeback and take the win.

Trailing 18-4 at the end of the first quarter and 35-21 at halftime, the Pirates rallied to defeat Long Beach 65-63 Saturday night.

"I have never seen a group of kids reach down and play a game from the heart the way they played tonight," Pass Coach Joe Brown said.

The turning point in the game was when the team went to a man to man defense, he said.

Head Coach Ken Hudson said that Brown deserved more credit for the win because of his recommendation of the defensive change.

Hudson added that Brown had seen Long Beach play and told him that by going to the man to man defense, the Pirates would be quicker and be able to get Long Beach out of their set offensive patterns.

"The team was very fortunate to be able to get back into the game and change things around the way they did," Hudson said.

With three players scoring in the double figures, the Pirates were led by Joel Hatcher with 24 points, J. W. Dedeaux with 20 points and Charlie Barnes with 10 points.

Gary Smith and Kevin Crockett rounded out the scoring with six and five points, respectively.

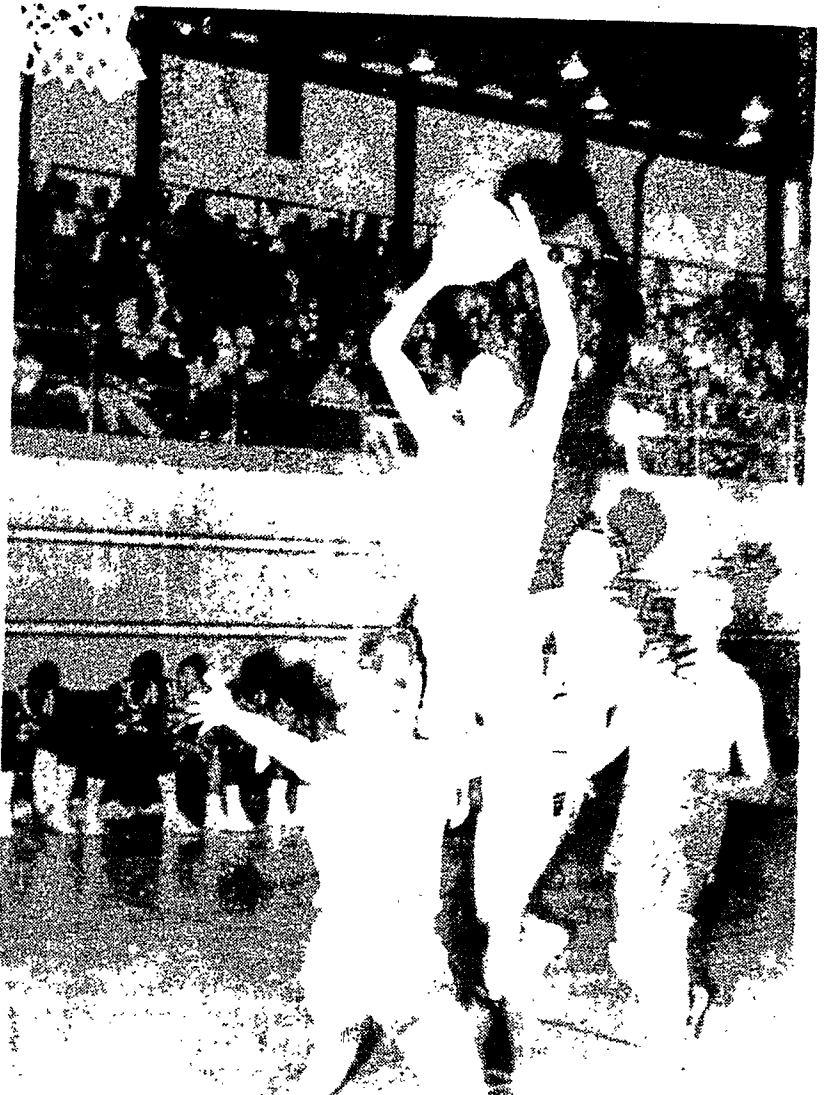

Outstanding efforts by Randall Henderson, Kevin Harrison and Tyrone Moffett also contributed to the win, Brown said.

Leading scorer for Long Beach was Bobby Reed with 28 points.

The Pirates advanced to the finals after a win Friday over the Hancock North Central Hawks Friday night.

Beginning the tournament with a close game the Pirates won 47-46 Thursday over the Pearl River Central Blue Devils.

The next opportunity for Pirate fans to see the team in action will be Friday, Dec. 13 when they host Vancleave. The girls game will begin at 6:30 p.m. followed by the boys game at 8 p.m.

Lady Hawks take tourney title

The Hancock North Central Lady Hawks won the title in the Pass Christian Tournament Saturday night.

The Lady Hawks took the title with a 41-38 score over Long Beach.

In earlier play Hancock defeated the host team, the Lady Pirates.

Opening with an 11 point lead in four minutes of play, the Lady Hawks went on to win the game 52-46.

The Lady Pirates did rally to cut the lead to only four points in the last minute of the game but could get no closer.

Kim Joseph had an outstanding performance scoring 21 points and collection 15 rebounds. Hope Bonney added 15 points.

The Lady Pirates opened the tournament Thursday night with a victory over Pearl River Central 61-45.

Ouida Buchanan was the leading scorer with 17 points. She also wrapped up eight rebounds.

Joseph tallied 16 points and 13 rebounds in the opening game. Tasha Cuevas added 10 rebounds to assist the Lady Pirates.

Hope Bonney played a steady game scoring eight points, passing for six assists and grabbing nine rebounds.

Pirates increase undefeated season record to seven games

Undefeated Pass Christian Pirates ran their record to 7-0 with a 65-63 win over East Central Tuesday night.

Eleven Pirate players scored with Joel Hatcher leading with 25 points.

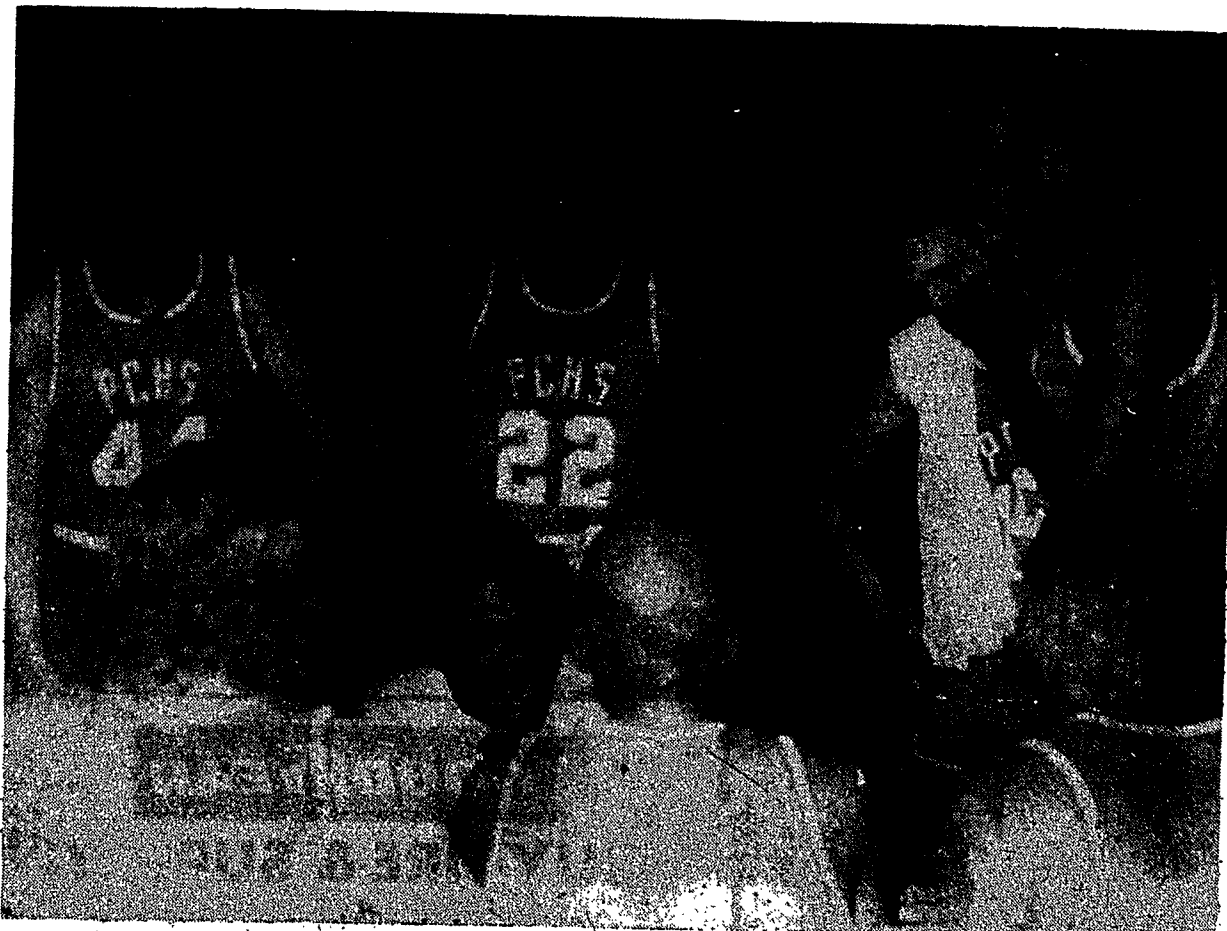

J. W. Dedeaux and Charles Dubisson scored 12 and 10 points respectively.

The Lady Pirates were defeated by their East Central opponents, 52-31.

The Lady Pirates trailed 26-18 at halftime but came back to come close to taking the lead three times in the second half of the game.

Ouida Buchanan with 16 points, Hope Bonney with 12 points and Kim Joseph with 10 points were the high scorers.

Rock Varsity captures Second District win

The St. Stanislaus Varsity basketball team rolled to its second district win of the season with a convincing 64-48 victory over visiting d'Iberville Warriors in a game played Tuesday night in the SSC gym.

In the preliminary JV game, SSC defeated d'Iberville 35-33 in triple overtime.

SSC's Varsity jumped out to a 12-6 first quarter lead, and increased the margin to 35-15 at halftime. A 23-point second quarter burst by the Rocks put the game out of reach for the Warriors.

St. Stanislaus was led by guard YaSin Shabazz with 19 points, followed by Jim Martin with 16 points. Forwards Jim Maxey and Tom Walton had 9 and 9 points respectively.

For d'Iberville, Jonathan Huffman had 17 points, 13 of which came in the last quarter against SSC's second and third team players. David Conway contributed 11 points.

SSC is now 2-1 in district play, and 3-5 overall. d'Iberville is now 0-3 in district play.

The SSC Junior Varsity game was determined in the third overtime period by a crucial basket by Brian Alexander. For the SSC JV, John Keller had 8 points, followed by Robert Brown and John Gross with 5 points each.

The St. Stanislaus Varsity squad travels to Metairie, La., this Wednesday to begin in the Ecole Classique tournament.

SSC varsity splits in Tournament

In a Boys Catholic High School Basketball Tournament held last weekend at Mercy Cross, the St. Stanislaus Varsity defeated Mercy Cross 54-48, and lost a heart-breaker to St. John in the final seconds, 42-40. The following evening St. John defeated Mercy Cross 63-54 to capture the tournament honors.

In the SSC-Mercy Cross game, St. Stanislaus used a 14-point third quarter surge to break open a close first-half contest. Led by YaSin Shabazz and Tom Walton who each scored 10 points in the second half, the Rocks outscored the Crusaders 33-26 to capture the win.

Leading scorers for St. Stanislaus were Tom Walton with 16 points, followed by YaSin Shabazz with 12 points. Louis Schuff and Jim Martin had 10 points, and John Gross contributed 6 points.

Mercy Cross' Jo Jo Koonce led all scorers with 20 points. After scoring 14 points in the first half, SSC went to a man-to-man defense and Jim Martin held Koonce to only 6 second half points.

In the Friday contest between St. Stanislaus and St. John, the Eagles defeated the Rocks 42-40 on two free throws made by Charlie Hawkins and Todd Storey in the last 30 seconds.

The game was extremely close from the opening tip-off. At halftime, the score was knotted at 17-17. In the third and fourth quarters, St. John edged the Rocks scorers by one point in each quarter to claim the victory.

Leading the Rocks were Jim Martin and YaSin Shabazz with 10 points apiece, while Todd Storey contributed 10 points for St. John.

Varsity Coach Bro. Anton said, "In the Mercy Cross game, we got good inside play from our big men, Tom Walton and Jim Maxey, which was the margin of difference. But we didn't play as aggressively against St. John as we allowed them several shots at their goal, particularly in the third quarter when we had the opportunity to take a big lead. We will have to rebound this Tuesday for our important district game against d'Iberville."

SSC Eighth and Ninth Grade Teams win over East Central

Both SSC Junior High teams scored big wins this past Monday when they visited the East Central Hornets. The Eighth Grade won 45-16, while the Ninth Grade defeated the Hornets by a score of 33-19.

In the Eighth Grade contest, the East Central Hornets found the first quarter of the game very uncomfortable as the 8th Grade Rocks pulled out to a 19-2 lead and increased it to a 29-4 halftime margin.

It was the sixth consecutive victory for the Eighth Grade Rocks. The starters only played the first quarter. Every team member played at least one quarter. Shannon Garrett led the Rocks with 16 points, followed by Sean Sewell, David Alexander, and Bill Bradley who all had eight points apiece.

In the Ninth Grade game, the Rocks secured their first victory of the season by defeating the Ninth Grade Hornets. It was a sweet victory for the Rocks, after suffering two overtime defeats (one in triple overtime) and a two-point loss.

Ninth Grade Coach Jerry Spell commented, "I think this game showed our players the value of teamwork, good aggressive defense, and moving the ball around on offense to take the good shot. But most important, we did not make the mental mistakes that have hurt us in our first few ballgames. This was the difference in our win over East Central."

The Ninth Grade Rocks held an 18-12 halftime advantage, and outscored the Hornets 15-7 in the second half. Leading the Rocks were Scott Hensgens with 10 points, followed by Freddie Wirstrom with eight points and Bert Dean with six points.

Thursday, both the Eighth and Ninth Grade teams play host to Pass Christian. The Eighth Grade game begins at 5 p.m. in the old gym, followed immediately by the Ninth Grade contest.

Even turtles know: Food must look good to taste good!

At one time or another, most parents are faced with the challenge of getting a reluctant child to eat. Cajoling, game-playing, deal-making and threats have been met with varying degrees of success.

Curator Gerald Corcoran of Gulf Coast Research Laboratory's J. L. Scott Marine Education Center in Biloxi was faced with a similar situation recently as he searched for ways to get a languishing hawksbill turtle to eat.

His solution? Dye the shrimp with dark food colorings to catch the turtle's attention!

"Hawksbills prefer to eat colorful sponges in their natural habitats," Corcoran explained. "Hawksbills usually don't venture this far north in the Gulf of Mexico, and this turtle was almost dead when a fisherman brought him in on Aug. 20, but assistant curator Errol White was able to revive him."

"We weren't having much success with force-feeding the turtle, and we were afraid we were going to lose him," Corcoran said. "I noticed the way he tried to bite the dark, algae-covered back wall of his tank and the dark screen underneath the gravel in the bottom of the tank. I thought he might be attracted by the dark colors, so I told our aquarists to dye the shrimp with food coloring for the hawksbill."

"Frankly, I thought it was a crazy idea," said Dr. Adrian Lawler, marine biologist-parasitologist at the MEC. "But you should have seen the turtle go after those dyed shrimp! First he gobbled down all of the red ones, then the green ones, and finally the blue ones."

"He's eating fine now, and we plan to decrease the amount of food coloring gradually until he's eating regular shrimp," Corcoran stated. "Hopefully, it won't be long before he's strong enough to be released into the Gulf again."

Corcoran said that this is the first hawksbill turtle to be brought to the MEC since the center became part of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's Turtle Stranding Network last year.

Hawksbills, one of five species of endangered sea turtles found in the northern Gulf of Mexico, are protected under the U.S. Endangered Species Act of 1973, as well as state law.

Unlawful removal or handling of these turtles is prohibited. The incidental taking of sea turtles during normal fishing activities is permitted if captured turtles are released immediately or brought to a facility such as the MEC which is equipped to care for the turtles and provide for their eventual release into safer waters.

Named for its beaklike upper jawbone, the hawksbill can weigh over 130 pounds and may exceed 30 inches in length. The hawksbill is commonly known as the "tortoise-shell turtle" because its mottled shell was once used for jewelry and other ornamental purposes.

ENDANGERED—This endangered hawksbill turtle is being nursed back to health at Gulf Coast Research Laboratory's J. L. Scott Marine Education Center in Biloxi.

Wildcats bounced in tourney finals

Midnight came a little early for the 'Cinderella' Wildcats Saturday night in the finals of the second annual Pearl River College Booster Classic in Poplarville.

After easing by Bossier City, La., on Thursday night and then knocking off previously undefeated John A. Logan, Ill., on Friday - the host Wildcats were set to complete their storybook performance by taking on Delgado, the nation's seventh-ranked team.

Unfortunately, the foul line denied the 'Cats from beating the now 15-0 New Orleans team and winning their own pre-Christmas tournament.

"We played well enough to win it," said Head Coach Lawrence Smithmier. "But we missed too many free throws to do that."

In the winners' consolation game earlier Saturday, John A. Logan Junior College took third place by defeating Mississippi Gulf Coast 77-67. Fifth place in the tournament fell into the hands of Bossier Community College, after winning over Pensacola Junior College of Florida 88-68.

In the losers' consolation game, Lakeland Junior College of Ohio defeated Itawamba Junior College of Mississippi 72-64.

"It was a real good tournament," said Smithmier. "The teams all played very well, we had a fine turnout."

In the championship game, Dwayne Hanberry came out of a small scoring slump to score 18 points for the 6-6 Wildcats, who took second place. Neil Murray and Robert Bridges each added 14, while Scott Davis scored 12.

Kenny Lewis and Dwayne Lewis (no relation) led the champion Dolphins with 18 points, while Dave Wiltz added 12.

The Logan Volunteers improved their record to 8-1 and third place with the assistance of Eric Hawthorne, who scored 25 points, and Victor Wells, who added 18. Earl Watkins scored 21 points for the 6-5 and fourth place Gulf Coast Bulldogs, while Brent Cannon added 16.

Diamondhead wins tennis title

The Diamondhead Women's Tennis Association captured the championship of the fall round of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Women's Tennis Association's activities.

Diamondhead posted a total of 1,006 points to claim the title. Ocean Springs was second with 928 points, followed by Bayou Bluff with 737, Gulfport Racquet Club with 677 and Pensacola with 509.

Fifth place went to the 5-6 Bossier Cavaliers behind Johnny Harper's 15 points and Pat Green's 13. The 7-5 Pensacola Pirates gained sixth place and were led by Durrie Cadwell with 24 points, and Terry Gould and Derrick Blunden with 14 each.

Lakeland grabbed seventh place behind the 26-point performance of Cavin Edwards and Shawn Arline's 16 points. The eighth place Indians were led by Ricardo Seals with 18 points and Oliver Johnson added 16.

Delgado and Pearl River reached the final game after fighting tough semi-final contests Friday night. The Dolphins were behind for a great deal of the first half and held off a tough challenge from Gulf Coast to win 71-68.

The Wildcats found it equally tough against John A. Logan, leading at the half by two, dropping behind in the second, and using free throw shooting of John Walker to come back and win 72-69.

In the earlier games Friday, Pensacola moved the championship of the loser's bracket with a 70-67 win over Lakeland, while Bossier advanced to meet the Pirates by knocking off Itawamba 91-78.

Delgado reached the finals thanks to the 30-point performance of Dwayne Lewis, while Dave Wiltz added 14. Gulf Coast was led in that contest by Kevin Miller with 19, Brent Cannon with 15, and Earl Watkins with 11 points.

Pearl River saw five players score in double figures against Logan.

John Walker scored 16, Neal Murray scored 14, Scott Davis added 11, Jerry Ellis added 11, and Robert Bridges scored 10. Eric Hawthorne and Victor Wells scored 14 points each in the contest for Logan.

In the earlier contests, Pensacola was led by Terry Gould with 16, Bo Brantley with 15, and Kelvin Ardister with 10. Kevin Edwards scored 23 for Lakeland, and Shawn Arline added 18.

Bossier was led by Greg Wilson with 30 points and Kenny Collins scored 17. The Indians were led by Oliver Johnson with 24.

The Diamondhead team captain is Mary McDonnell and the members are Hilda Bourg, Donna James, Betty Nolan, Diana Freisser and Debbie Siefken of Diamondhead; Ann Heitzmann and Elizabeth Watts of Bay St. Louis; Jeanette Putser and Carolyn Burkett of Poyayune; and Cynthia Allen and Mary Ann Underwood of Pass Christian.

The association will begin the spring league in February.

GREENTREE DRY

JACKSON—Duck hunters in north Mississippi may be disappointed to find one of their favorite hunting spots empty this year.

The greentree reservoir on Malmison Wildlife Management Area has not been filled this fall as part of the Department's management plan. Recent research by the U.S. Forest Service has shown that repeated annual flooding of greentree areas leads to decreased acorn production and higher tree mortality. In an effort to preserve this duck area for the future, the department will attempt to keep the area dry at least one year in every three.

Hunters displaced by this plan can still find excellent public duck hunting on Sunflower and Indian Bayou greentrees in Sharkey County.

Board of Commissioners
Diamondhead Fire Protection
District of Hancock County
4440 Kalam Drive
Bay St. Louis, Mississippi 39520

November 18, 1985

We have examined the statement of assets and fund balance - cash basis of Diamondhead Fire Protection District of Hancock County as of September 30, 1985 and the related statement of revenue, expenses, and changes in fund balance - cash basis for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and, accordingly, included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

As described in Note 1 to the financial statements, the District's policy is to prepare its financial statements on the basis of cash receipts and disbursements; consequently, revenues and related assets are recognized when received rather than when earned, and expenses are recognized when paid rather than when the obligation is incurred. Accordingly, the accompanying financial statements are not intended to present financial position and results of operations in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly the assets and fund balance of Diamondhead Fire Protection District of Hancock County as of September 30, 1985, and its revenue, expenses, and changes in fund balance for the year then ended, prepared on the cash basis of accounting.

1. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES:

The Fire Protection District prepares its financial statements on the cash basis of accounting. Under this method revenues are recognized when received rather than when earned, and expenses are recognized when paid rather than when the obligation is incurred.

2. BUILDING AND EQUIPMENT:

Equipment, buildings and related assets are recorded directly to Fund Balance when received. No provision for depreciation is provided in the financial statement.

County Agent's Notes

INSECTS ON FIREWOOD

Cooler weather has finally arrived, and many families will light a fire in their fireplace or woodstove soon. When you bring wood in the home, remember that insects may get in the door, too.

Although a large number of insects may be found on the wood, most of them are harmless. The insects are usually looking for food or overwintering places under loose bark or in hollow wood.

One insect can be more bothersome than others, however. Roaches hide under loose bark and usually are more of a problem where wood has been stacked over a long period of time.

Beetles, termites and carpenter ants aren't likely to become established in the home through firewood because they usually leave the firewood when their colonies are disturbed.

It's easy to keep insects from entering your home on firewood, and no insecticides are needed or recommended. Before carrying wood into the house, knock the sticks against something solid to jar the insects loose. Don't stack firewood in or against the house.

Stack the wood in cold areas of the house, such as the garage or unheated porch. Use any wood you carry in the house within a day or two.

Practicing the fine art of drafting is Shane Fielder, Bay High senior

Vo-Tech students preparing for future jobs

In our present high-tech job market, the need for highly trained technicians is a must.

The Hancock County Vo-Tech Center is meeting this demand by offering six courses for high school students over the age of 16.

These courses provide the foundation for more advanced courses in junior and senior colleges, and in many cases, offer training for jobs right out of high school.

Courses offered include automobile mechanics, building trades, metal trades, drafting, industrial electricity, and combination welding.

Automobile mechanics students study the complete automobile by working on their own cars as well as others brought in for repairs. They study front-end service, computerized wheel balancing, computerized engine analyzing, rear engine work, chemical cleaning of auto parts, valve jobs, engine overhaul, transmission repair, and brake work.

Building trades is a two-year course consisting of basic bricklaying, residential framing, cabinet making, blueprint reading, and site layout.

Students in metal trades study welding, machine shop, and sheet metal work. Modern metalworking supplies basic information on tools, materials and procedures used in metalworking occupations. It covers both hand and machine-tool operations and supplies background knowledge on industrial equipment and processes.

The drafting course is composed of three-view drawing, isometrics, sections, and typography. Computer graphics is scheduled to begin sometime in 1986.

Residential electricity, industrial motors, and motor construction are the components of an extensive industrial electricity course.

In addition to teaching various welding techniques, students in combination welding learn the use of hand tools, identification of metals, selection of electrodes, and shop safety.

The Hancock County Vo-Tech is staffed by instructors who have many years experience in their particular trades: Al Saucier, automobile mechanics; C.H. Mile, building trades; Reggie Ladner, metal trades; Darryl Ladner, drafting; Jim Wolfe, industrial electricity; and John Cranmer, combination welding.

The student organization at the center is a chapter of Vocational & Industrial Clubs of America which is a national organization serving trade, industrial, technical, and health occupation students in the United States.

VICA incorporates leadership, citizenship, and character development programs and activities into the skill training offered in America's schools.

Instruction is offered by men and women who have worked in the occupational areas in which they now instruct their students.

Premier danseur to lead Saturday ballet workshop

Gulf Coast Dance Theatre is sponsoring a ballet workshop featuring the former premier danseur of Allegro American Ballet Company of Chicago Saturday at The Dance Place in Gulfport.

Harvey Benson Hysell III, master dancer and choreographer, along with Ruth Page of the Chicago Opera Ballet will serve as workshop instructors.

Hysell is currently director of Ballet Hysell School in New Orleans and has recently become associated with the University of New Orleans.

Page is founder and has served as director for the past 14 years of the New Orleans Ballet Company.

Registration for Saturday's workshop opens at 10 a.m. at The Dance Place, 305 Cowan Road in Gulfport, according to Sharon Loiacano of Bay St. Louis, artistic director of Gulf Coast Dance Theatre.

Intermediate and advanced classes will be offered for dancers 11-years-old and older with at least four years of classical ballet training, Loiacano noted.

Participation fee is $7.50 per class. Pre-registration by telephone is encouraged to secure placement in the proper level class by calling 467-4601, 255-3209 or 832-2850, Loiacano added.

Students of Loiacano's The Ballet Place and Karen Compretta's Arabesque School of Dance, both in Bay St. Louis, as well as qualified individuals are expected to participate in the workshop, she explained.

ARIES (3/21 - 4/19) A secret ceases to be secret once you tell it to someone, so there's no point in feeling offended because someone violated your confidence. Just keep your own counsel in the future.

TAURUS (4/20 - 5/20) Pending tax laws may alter the picture on that second home idea. Hold off until you see which way the wind is blowing. You may find it wise to scale down your ideas.

GEMINI (5/21 - 6/20) Your generous nature leads you to promise things it would be wiser to ignore. Give much consideration to the matter before making vows it may be difficult to keep.

CANCER (6/21 - 7/22) It would be wise to seek a second, even a third professional opinion about some investments you want to change. What was a good bet for you when younger may be too risky as you grow older.

LEO (7/23 - 8/22) The sudden illness of an old friend upsets you, making you feel guilty at having neglected him lately. Resolve to answer all letters, to phone old friends more often. Don't let it be too late again.

VIRGO (8/23 - 9/22) Don't ignore the signs a teenager is sending you. Trouble can be avoided by facing the matter head on and immediately. Problems seldom go away because you want them to.

LIBRA (9/23 - 10/22) You stand in danger of letting someone take dire financial advantage of you due to an attack of false pride. Stand up and demand your rights. No one else will do it for you.

SCORPIO (10/23 - 11/21) Being right all the time tends to annoy those who live with you. You can afford to give some ground occasionally, even if you are not personally convinced you are wrong.

SAGITTARIUS (11/22 - 12/21) Consider a trial visit to a new area before you pull up your roots and make a permanent move. The new place may not be all it's cracked up to be in reality.

CAPRICORN (12/22 - 1/19) Resolve any religious differences before you head down the aisle. If the resolution leaves either of you feeling bitter, then postpone marriage, or cancel it altogether.

AQUARIUS (1/20 - 2/18) The best way for you to get into trouble is to be idle. Jump into the local swim of things, either for pay or for diversion, but don't sit home and mope about how bored you are.

PICES (2/19 - 3/20) Keeping the peace is fine and dandy, just as long as you don't allow yourself to be perpetually squelched. You can get your views across firmly and without belligerence if you really put your mind to it.

SENSITIVE PARENTING New behaviors mark preadolescence

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1985-3C

Narcotics News

Donald Buller
Director
Bureau of Narcotics

By Norine Barnes
Child Development Specialist
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

Any group of preadolescents will show a variety of different sizes, shapes, behaviors and attitudes. However, most will be normal in terms of their own developmental schedule. Some of the characteristics may seem contradictory. Remember that this is the age of contradictions. Youngsters begin to want and need more contact with their own age group. The attitudes, opinions, acceptance and companionship of their peers become very important. They are growing away from social and emotional dependence on their parents.

This is a time for group activities and club membership. Earlier in this stage, kids may shun or express contempt for members of the opposite sex. Later an awkward interest in the opposite sex will appear.

Girls during this period may become "tom-boyish." It is a phase that usually passes with no ill after-effects. But boys showing "sissy" traits may face social disapproval. They too usually grow out of this but it can be a tough time because of others' attitudes.

Pre-teens like to dress and act like the rest of the crowd. Their actions and apparel may seem weird or ridiculous to adults.

The child may take part in foolish capers, acting silly, giggling fits, devising secret codes, forming secret exclusive clubs, rough housing and practical joking. Some become very careless about personal appearance to the exasperation of their parents.

Social approval of adults is needed and the pre-teen can be influenced by praise. On the other hand, they are losing some respect for the authority and opinions of the adult world in general. Some adults may make the mistake of taking this personally.

Preadolescents are growing in self-reliance, independence and the ability to govern themselves. They need to and will try to show their independence. Parents and other adults no longer seem to be the all knowing, all powerful, totally competent, super beings they once were. This age group may begin to show contempt or disregard for adult authority by trying to get away with certain disapproved acts or behavior.

Although, their ideas may conflict with those of adults, they can have intense feelings about what is right, wrong, just or unjust. These youngsters may resent being told what to do while at the same time they may need constant reminders regarding their routine responsibilities. On the other hand, they may exhibit surprising maturity and responsibility at times in group activities or in doing their parts in organized or community activities.

They may challenge adult knowledge, be moody, rebellious and uncommunicative. They may want to spend a lot of time alone especially away from family members.

This is also the age of hero worship. Boys idolize males who appear competent, bold, daring and adventurous. Often they select sports figures, TV or movie stars as their idols. Also they will idolize older boys they know or men whose skill and competencies they admire. Girls also have their idols. Movie or TV stars, singers, athletes or older girls or women they know.

For both boys and girls this is a period of fantasizing and playing out various roles. This role playing is one way they learn about others and begin to identify their own interests, talents and abilities.

Q. What happens to drugs when they are seized? (J.W. Brookhaven, MS)

A. The average case usually entails drugs being sealed and transported to the Crime Lab for analysis.

The drugs undergo a series of tests performed by a toxicologist. Once analyzed they are moved to secured storage where they remain until called for by a trial court as evidence.

Premier danseur to lead Saturday ballet workshop

Gulf Coast Dance Theatre is sponsoring a ballet workshop featuring the former premier danseur of Allegro American Ballet Company of Chicago Saturday at The Dance Place in Gulfport.

Harvey Benson Hysell III, master dancer and choreographer, along with Ruth Page of the Chicago Opera Ballet will serve as workshop instructors.

Hysell is currently director of Ballet Hysell School in New Orleans and has recently become associated with the University of New Orleans.

Page is founder and has served as director for the past 14 years of the New Orleans Ballet Company.

Registration for Saturday's workshop opens at 10 a.m. at The Dance Place, 305 Cowan Road in Gulfport, according to Sharon Loiacano of Bay St. Louis, artistic director of Gulf Coast Dance Theatre.

Intermediate and advanced classes will be offered for dancers 11-years-old and older with at least four years of classical ballet training, Loiacano noted.

Participation fee is $7.50 per class. Pre-registration by telephone is encouraged to secure placement in the proper level class by calling 467-4601, 255-3209 or 832-2850, Loiacano added.

Students of Loiacano's The Ballet Place and Karen Compretta's Arabesque School of Dance, both in Bay St. Louis, as well as qualified individuals are expected to participate in the workshop, she explained.

ARIES (3/21 — 4/19) A secret ceases to be secret once you tell it to someone, so there's no point in feeling offended because someone violated your confidence. Just keep your own counsel in the future.

GEMINI (5/21 — 6/20) Your generous nature leads you to promise things it would be wiser to ignore. Give much consideration to the matter before making vows it may be difficult to keep.

CANCER (6/21 — 7/22) It would be wise to seek a second, even a third professional opinion about some investments you want to change. What was a good bet for you when younger may be too risky as you grow older.

LEO (7/23 — 8/22) The sudden illness of an old friend upsets you, making you feel guilty at having neglected him lately. Resolve to answer all letters, to phone old friends more often. Don't let it be too late again.

VIRGO (8/23 — 9/22) Don't ignore the signs a teenager is sending you. Trouble can be avoided by facing the matter head on and immediately. Problems seldom go away because you want them to.

LIBRA (9/23 — 10/22) You stand in danger of letting someone take dire financial advantage of you due to an attack of false pride. Stand up and demand your rights. No one else will do it for you.

SCORPIO (10/23 — 11/21) Being right all the time tends to annoy those who live with you. You can afford to give some ground occasionally, even if you are not personally convinced you are wrong.

SAGITTARIUS (11/22 — 12/21) Consider a trial visit to a new area before you pull up your roots and make a permanent move. The new place may not be all it's cracked up to be in reality.

CAPRICORN (12/22 — 1/19) Resolve any religious differences before you head down the aisle. If the resolution leaves either of you feeling bitter, then postpone marriage, or cancel it altogether.

AQUARIUS (1/20 — 2/18) The best way for you to get into trouble is to be idle. Jump into the local swim of things, either for pay or for diversion, but don't sit home and mope about how bored you are.

PISCES (2/19 — 3/20) Keeping the peace is fine and dandy, just as long as you don't allow yourself to be perpetually squelched. You can get your views across firmly and without belligerence if you really put your mind to it.

SENSITIVE PARENTING

New behaviors mark preadolescence

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1985-3C

Narcotics News

Donald Buller
Director
Bureau of Narcotics

By Norine Barnes
Child Development Specialist
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

Any group of preadolescents will show a variety of different sizes, shapes, behaviors and attitudes. However, most will be normal in terms of their own developmental schedule. Some of the characteristics may seem contradictory. Remember that this is the age of contradictions.

Youngsters begin to want and need more contact with their own age group. The attitudes, opinions, acceptance and companionship of their peers become very important. They are growing away from social and emotional dependence on their parents.

This is a time for group activities and club membership. Earlier in this stage, kids may shun or express contempt for members of the opposite sex. Later an awkward interest in the opposite sex will appear.

Girls during this period may become "tom-boyish." It is a phase that usually passes with no ill after-effects. But boys showing "sissy" traits may face social disapproval. They too usually grow out of this but it can be a tough time because of others' attitudes.

Pre-teens like to dress and act like the rest of the crowd. Their actions and apparel may seem weird or ridiculous to adults.

The child may take part in foolish capers, acting silly, giggling fits, devising secret codes, forming secret exclusive clubs, rough housing and practical joking. Some become very careless about personal appearance to the exasperation of their parents.

Social approval of adults is needed and the pre-teen can be influenced by praise. On the other hand, they are losing some respect for the authority and opinions of the adult world in general. Some adults may make the mistake of taking this personally.

Preadolescents are growing in self-reliance, independence and the ability to govern themselves. They need to and will try to show their independence. Parents and other adults no longer seem to be the all knowing, all powerful, totally competent, super beings they once were. This age group may begin to show contempt or disregard for adult authority by trying to get away with certain disapproved acts or behavior.

Although, their ideas may conflict with those of adults, they can have intense feelings about what is right, wrong, just or unjust. These youngsters may resent being told what to do while at the same time they may need constant reminders regarding their routine responsibilities. On the other hand, they may exhibit surprising maturity and responsibility at times in group activities or in doing their parts in organized or community activities.

They may challenge adult knowledge, be moody, rebellious and uncommunicative. They may want to spend a lot of time alone especially away from family members.

This is also the age of hero worship. Boys idolize males who appear competent, bold, daring and adventurous. Often they select sports figures, TV or movie stars as their idols. Also they will idolize older boys they know or men whose skill and competencies they admire. Girls also have their idols. Movie or TV stars, singers, athletes or older girls or women they know.

For both boys and girls this is a period of fantasizing and playing out various roles. This role playing is one way they learn about others and begin to identify their own interests, talents and abilities.

4-H LIVESTOCK PROJECTS

The 1985 Mississippi State Fair Junior Livestock shows were the largest ever. Almost 600 4-H and FFA members from across the state exhibited 1,032 animals in six livestock events.

Three 4-H'ers from Hancock County, Grandy Ladner, William Moran, and Berry Necaice, exhibited three animals in the annual event held at the State Fairgrounds in Jackson.

Livestock shows such as the State Fair are the pay-off place for hundreds of Mississippi 4-H'ers. It is their reward for the many hours spent feeding, training, grooming and preparing their animals for competition.

The show is only a small part of the total program, but it is the test that determines achievement in the livestock project.

4-H livestock projects offer members an opportunity to select, feed, manage and sometimes market the animal or animals of their choice.

Members may participate in judging, visual presentation, cook-out contests, consumer education, career education, leadership, exhibits and records.

These projects teach youth many life skills such as how to get along with people, decision-making, how to plan and attend to details, and how to win and lose with a positive attitude.

Livestock projects are an outstanding teaching method. In the true spirit of 4-H, youngsters "learn by doing" in 4-H work.

We are extremely proud of the way Hancock County was represented by these young men. We hope to have more participation in next year's State Fair.

The Dixie National Rodeo and Livestock Show is approaching. County Fair Livestock winners should contact the Extension 4-H Youth Agent as soon as possible. Livestock judging teams are also needed for County, District, and State judging contests. Any youth aged 8 to 18 interested in participating in these contests, including: sheep, swine, beef, and dairy, should also contact the 4-H Youth Agent as soon as possible.

For more information on how to get involved in the Hancock County Livestock program, contact Daney Jackson at the county Extension office at 467-5456.

4-H REENROLLMENT

At the present time Hancock County has "0" 4-H'ers registered at the state 4-H office. The reason for this is that past members haven't reenrolled for the 1985-86 4-H year.

In the absence of a 4-H youth agent several clubs have become inactive. I would like to take this opportunity to offer my assistance as the new 4-H Youth Agent to any 4-H member or volunteer. In past years Hancock County has had an excellent 4-H program. I would like to build on the fine job Gwen Elmore Necaice, the former 4-H Youth Agent, was doing and raise the 4-H program to new heights.

There is no reason why this county, with its quality youths and adults, can't become a shining example for this part of the state.

What the program needs now is members and volunteers. Any youth or adult interested in the 4-H program should contact me at the County Extension Office at 467-5456.

Scholarship established in honor of James S. Love

The University of Mississippi has announced a $50,000 endowment for a scholarship fund in honor of James S. Love Jr., the founder of WLOX Broadcasting Company in Biloxi and a hotel owner on the Gulf Coast.

The James S. Love Jr. Electronic Information Management Scholarship is endowed by a gift to The Campaign for Ole Miss from the Love Broadcasting Company of Biloxi and the family of Love. Each scholarship will be for $2,000 annually, with the first to be awarded for the fall 1986 semester at Ole Miss. The Love Scholarship will be awarded to outstanding students in the Center for Telecommunications program and related fields. The scholarship may be used to recruit students to Ole Miss' new telecommunications program or awarded to upperclass students in the field. Students selected as recipients can retain the Love Scholarship by maintaining a 3.0 grade point average.

Love established WLOX Broadcasting Company Inc. in 1946. In January 1985 WLOX Broadcasting—which had evolved from a small AM radio station to WLOX-TV in Biloxi, two radio stations in Jackson and two radio stations in Savannah, Ga.—became Love Broadcasting.

Originally from Hattiesburg, Love bought the Buena Vista in 1938 and White House Inn in 1940 and is a past president of the Mississippi Hotel Association.

Further contributions can be made to the Love Scholarship Fund by contacting the University of Mississippi Foundation, P. O. Box 248, University, MS 38677, telephone (601) 232-6944.

Pearl River installs new security system

A new security system has been installed in the Pearl River College Library that activates an alarm signal if an attempt is made to leave the library with unauthorized materials.

"We know it is easy for a patron to inadvertently mix up library materials with personal belongings, particularly when he or she is involved in a major research project," said Jeanne Dyar, director of library services.

"Fortunately this system will detect materials even when it is placed in brief cases or book bags," Dyar said.

The Southern Association of Colleges and Schools recommended that the Pearl River College Library should be automated, and these sensitized markers are the first step in compliance with the recommendation.

This improvement enables staff members "to devote their efforts to assisting patrons and to allocate the budget to new materials," Dyar said. "The library becomes a more valuable resource center for Pearl River College."

New York City is the North of Southern imagination

The following article resulted from a grant from the Mississippi Committee for the Humanities to the Mississippi Press Association.

NORTH OF MISSISSIPPI
By John F. Marszalek
Department of History
Mississippi State University

Mississippi has produced a host of writers famous for their portrayal of life in the American South.

Stories about sultry nights on a Delta back porch, tracking possums through moonlit woods, and fishing for catfish in slow-moving streams, have become part of southern (actually American) folklore.

Literate Americans can conjure up pictures in their minds of a land and its people they have perhaps never even visited but have only read about in Faulkner, Welty, or James Street.

Mississippians have these same images of themselves, further reinforced by their own personal experiences. When they think of "foreign lands" to the North, however, the picture is not so clear.

Northern authors have written about life in the big city and on rural farms, but these tales have never influenced the American mind the way stories of the South have.

When many Mississippians think of the North, therefore, they often think of New York City and visualize New York City with its towering spires of concrete and steel.

"Isn't New York the place where everyone gets mugged?" "I sure would never want to live there; those people are always in such a hurry." "The place is uninhabitable; all there is crime, congestion, and concrete."

New York City is indeed a phenomenon, so prodigious that it has overwhelmed the Mississippi—and much of the southern—mentality.

To many the North is one great big New York City. If a person is from the North, no matter where, many Mississippians believe that, by definition, he or she lives a New York City existence.

(Consider the Civil War of a century ago: Most Mississippians believe it was fought between southern farm boys and northern city dwellers, though it was actually fought by farm boys on both sides.)

The North, of today, like the North of the Civil War period, is hardly one great big New York City. New York State alone is much more than "the City."

Most of New York is rural and of breath-taking natural beauty. Niagara Falls, the Finger Lakes, the Thousand Islands, the Hudson River, Lakes George and Champlain, the Adirondack and Catskill Mountains are esthetically as different from New York City as the Delta is from New Orleans.

Grapes and apples, cabbages and cauliflowers grow on acre after acre of farm land, sharing the countryside with herds of milk cows which make the state one of the nation's major dairy producers.

Towns with names such as Horse's Head, Painted Post, Tonawanda, and Cheektowaga (Indian for land of the crab apple) are more numerous than places like Brooklyn and Queens.

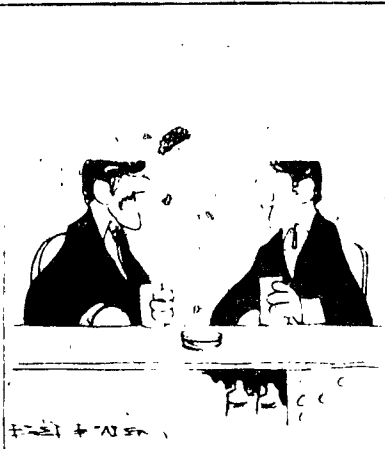

Even large cities like Buffalo and Rochester pride themselves on their closely-knit ethnic neighborhoods, not on their tall buildings.

On cool summer evenings, New Yorkers do not mug each other for recreation. Instead, they sit on porches or stoops to enjoy the breeze and their neighbors, to swat mosquitos, and to ponder such crucial philosophical questions as the pernan chances of the nearby Toronto Blue Jays, Cleveland Indians, or Montreal Expos baseball teams, the possibility of rain or the next deer or pheasant hunting trip.

As the Sun Belt phenomenon brings more and more of these foreigners south, we need to realize that they are not all inhabitants of New York City, and that they are not as different as rumor has always had it.

Many People Faced With Emotional Problems Feel All Hope Is Lost.

Depression is a disease that brings deep pain and sadness. It disrupts lives. We fear that nothing can be done about it. We fear it will never end.

Depression brings with it changes we feel so deeply, but cannot understand. A feeling of being terribly alone. A loss of interest in things that once gave us pleasure. A feeling that we can no longer cope with life around us—family, job, the world. We may withdraw from friends and loved ones. Or drink to drown our sorrow. Or sleep our days away.

But the greatest sadness of all is living with depression when help is so near.

If you or someone you care about has been living with this pain, you don't have to deal with it alone. A simple phone call to us can be the beginning of a return to life as it should be.

When you call us, you will talk to someone who has listened to many other people with problems like yours. Someone who does what they do because they want to help. Someone with the experience to understand your needs and help you take the right first step toward feeling better.

Depression is an illness that can go on and on if nothing is done. But those who suffer from it can be helped.

If you've been suffering alone, call us. Call for your own sake. Call for the sake of someone you care about. You need not endure this pain when hope is just a phone call away.

MSU leads state in 'Who's Who' faculty listings

Mississippi State University has more faculty listed in Who's Who in America and in Who's Who in the World than any other university in the state.

According to a report by a Washington State University researcher, MSU has 33 of its 717 faculty members listed in Who's Who in America. Of that number, six are also listed in Who's Who in the World—which, at 18 percent, is the highest percentage mentioned in the report covering five states.

Francis A. Young, director of the Primate Research Center at Washington State, recently compared the performance of WSU faculty (in terms of Who's Who listings) with faculty at other Northwest universities. He added the universities in Mississippi for an outside comparison.

His survey covered the universities in Washington, Idaho, Montana, Oregon and Mississippi.

Young said he used the Who's Who listing to judge performance because the book "uses two factors for inclusion in its listings: (1) the position of responsibility held or level of achievement attained by the individual, and (2) admission based on objective criteria."

The University of Washington had the highest number of its faculty in Who's Who in America, 235 of 2,500.

Washington State University had the second highest number—after Mississippi State—listed in both publications, 3 of 30.

Here's Where To Find It.

USM features Children literature

By Roger D. Brinegar
Children's books were discussed by internationally known experts during the inaugural Ezra Jack Keats Lecture festivities at the University of Southern Mississippi.

The Keats Lecture was established by the Ezra Jack Keats Foundation in memory of the late Ezra Jack Keats, a well-known illustrator/author of children's books. The event was hosted by the School of Library Service at USM Nov. 15.

Each year during November and in celebration of Children's Book

Week, a program is held at USM to feature outstanding authorities in the field of children's literature.

This year, the daylong event featured Barbara Cooney, two-time winner of the coveted Caldecott award; Dr. Martin Pope, president of the Ezra Jack Keats Foundation; and Brian Alderson, author, critic and children's book review editor for the "London Times."

Cooney, Caldecott winner for her work on "Chanticleer and the Fox," (1958) and "Ox-Cart Man," (1980) delivered the opening address, showing slides of her illustrations for "The Story of Holly and Ivy," her latest picture book.

Cooney, a devout stickler for detail, showed her "roughs," or first illustrations for the book, following each rough with her finished paintings and delighting the audience with her quick wit and exceptional artistic skills.

Her roughs were well conceived and illustrated, but cold in appearance. Her final paintings, on the other hand, evidenced a rationalization of design and color and a most successful distillation of thought and technique. The finished pictures glowed with an ethereal source of illumination and her characters became warm and believably real.

She said she paints between one and 20 pictures in the course of completing an illustration. "Once I get the faces right, I know it (the illustration) is finished," Cooney said. "Once I capture the glint in the eye...the spirit of the character, then it's done."

Nor yet be lured out of his book. For, long ago, the truth to say, He has grown up and gone away, And it is but a child of air That lingers in the garden there.

USM to host gifted

Applications continue to be accepted to the University of Southern Mississippi's Saturday program for gifted children, which will be held from Jan. 18 until March 8.

The eight-week program for exceptional children in kindergarten through high school will meet each Saturday from 9 a.m. until noon and will emphasize individual participation in small discussion groups. A variety of subjects will be offered—including art, geometry and architecture, personal development and computer science.

Presented by the Center for Gifted Studies at USM, the program will hold all activities in classrooms and laboratories on campus. Qualified teachers and supervisors will supervise students at all times.

For more information, contact Dr. Frances Karnes, Center for Gifted Studies, Southern Station Box 8207, Hattiesburg, Miss., 39406, or call (601) 266-5236.

USM holiday schedule revised

University of Southern Mississippi offices will remain closed Jan. 2-3 in an effort to save about $20,000 in utility costs and some wages.

Dr. Aubrey K. Lucas, USM president, has announced the revised holiday closing schedule as a cost-saving step stemming from a state budget crunch, which has caused financial cutbacks at all public institutions of higher learning.

Dr. Tom Estes, USM vice-president for business and finance, said university offices will remain open through Dec. 20 as originally scheduled. They will reopen Monday, Jan. 6, instead of Jan. 2 as previously scheduled.

Estes said the additional two days of closing would save approximately $20,000 in utility costs and wages for hourly-paid staff personnel. About $15,000 of the savings would come from the university's general fund and another $5,000 would come from self-supporting auxiliary services such as the USM Bookstore.

USM dormitories will reopen Tuesday, Jan. 7, and registration for the spring semester will be conducted Jan. 7-10. Classes will begin Monday, Jan. 13.

Academic scholarships listed at State

The following students have been awarded academic scholarships for the 1985-86 school year at Mississippi State University.

These scholarships recognize outstanding academic achievement during the student's 1983-84 school year, whether at MSU, another institution, or high school (for entering freshmen).

Scholarship recipients include Russell D. Smith, engineering; Jesse Webb, engineering; Lovell George Paul, arts and sciences; all of Bay St. Louis; and Rolande Jeanine Watson, veterinary medicine, of Waveland.

Down 47 percent from 1984

Farmers' income plummets despite high crop yields

Farm income in Mississippi dropped almost 47 percent from 1984 levels despite record or near-record yields for many crops.

Net farm income in the state, plunged from $487 million in 1984 to an estimated $260 million this year, said Dr. James R. Carpenter, director of the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

The total value of farm production in Mississippi in 1985 is estimated at $2.92 billion, down from a high of $3.08 billion in 1984.

Of Mississippi's 10 major agricultural enterprises, six dropped in total value of production in 1985. Poultry and eggs, forestry, soybeans, meat animals, food grains and dairy production all dropped in value in 1985, while the value for cotton, feed crops, catfish and horticulture crops was higher.

Low product prices and high production costs offset high yields for many crops, adding up to another poor profit year for farmers.

"Farm prices this year averaged about 10 percent below those of 1984 and were the lowest overall since 1978," Carpenter said.

Bad weather at harvest also hurt farmers for the second year in a row in 1985. Heavy rains reduced yields and crop quality for crops remaining in the field.

Bright spots in the Mississippi agriculture picture for 1985 include record yields for grain sorghum, rice and hay and high yields for others.

"The catfish industry also continued to expand and is one of the few bright agricultural enterprises in the state," Carpenter said. "Cotton farmers also experienced some gain in production."

Cotton continued its hold on first place as an income producer with a farm value of $592 million in 1985, up from $581 million in 1984. Yields reached a near-record average of 785 pounds per acre.

Poultry and eggs, while dropping in value, were the second highest valued agricultural enterprise for Mississippi farmers. The total value of poultry and eggs in Mississippi in 1985 was $492 million, down from $545 million in 1984.

The forestry industry, with a value of $484 million, was the state's third highest valued agriculture enterprise in 1985. The 1985 value is down from $518 million in 1984.

Despite good yields, the value of the state's soybean crop dropped sharply from 1984. The 1985 value for soybeans is estimated at $347 million, compared to $484 million in 1984. Yields were estimated at 26 bushels per acre, but prices were the lowest since 1975.

Disappointment continued for Mississippi beef and hog producers in 1985. The total value of meat animals was $226 million, down from $236 million in 1984.

Feed crops such as corn, grain sorghum and hay set records in 1985 with a value in production of $224 million, up $63 million over 1984. Grain sorghum yields reached a record 67 bushels per acre, while total hay production reached a record 1.8 million tons.

The brightest spot in Mississippi agriculture was the catfish industry, which reached a record $202 million in value. The 1985 value is up from $158 million in 1984.

The value of food grains—rice and wheat—dropped from $194 million in 1984 to $147 million. Rice yields were a record 120 bushels per acre, but a small wheat crop and low yields lowered the value for food grain crops.

The value of dairy production was down slightly to $127 million in 1985. Conditions damaged pecan and peach crops, muscadine and blueberry acreages continued to increase.

Carpenter said the outlook for 1986 calls for another tough year for Mississippi farmers.

"While favorable weather could produce high crop yields, the main culprit again will be low prices," Carpenter said.
